

Introduction to Elementary Cryogenics 103

(this is not a puzzle)

GRAD

MBTA: #GreenLine: Shuttle buses replace Green Line service between Medford/Tufts and Lechmere due to unusual squirrel activity at Magoun Station. We insist this one is not actually our fault, for once.

Sunday, August 27

Prof. Erin Dell

Welcome to Introduction to Elementary Cryogenics 103!

Apologies for my voice, class: I seem to have a bit of a cold. But don't worry, it never bothered me anyway.

Years of added delays to the completion of the GLX gave Doolittle extra time to allow things to grow completely out of control. I had snacks lined up for your study group, but there is a giant squirrel attacking Magoun Square station (and our class!) that needs to be dealt with first.

We have four fact-finding missions on how to make the squirrel chill out:

Chess & Ladders

Grateful Undead

Many of Them

Quintuple Jeopardy!

Quintuple Jeopardy! uses location information, but does not require going indoors. But please support our local businesses if you can. Free outdoor seating is somewhat limited here, there is some near Trum Field.

Once you have solid results, we'll collaborate, with:

Popsicle Break